January 14, 2006 (FPRC) -- Before finding the answer to this dilemma, let's take an overview of Hilton Head and its surrounding area.

Conveniently located along the south Atlantic coast, Hilton Head Island combines breathtaking natural beauty, world-class golf, award-winning dining, and quality shopping on a barrier island just 12 miles long and 5 miles wide.

With over 12 miles of sandy beaches overlooking the Atlantic Ocean, water lovers will find that Hilton Head Island is a coastal paradise.

The unique blend of unspoiled natural beauty and environmentally sensitive design is complemented by world-class resorts, amenities and activities. This makes Hilton Head Island, South Carolina a vacation destination like no other. That's why Hilton Head Island is widely considered to be one of the finest resort communities in the United States, welcoming millions of visitors from across the country and around the globe each year.

What if a family is visiting the island? What can they do to really enjoy their vacation? The variety of activities and family fun is unique, but browsing through the short list of sample activities below will give you an idea about the friendliness and family fun you can have in Hilton Head Island:

- Close dolphin encounters, bird watching and ocean ecology awareness
- Family Golf, Miniature Golf & Tennis
- Family Biking - with miles of bike paths available, many of which take you through nature preserves, this is truly an enjoyable way to experience the natural splendor of the island
- Guided Kayak Tours & Kayak Fishing

- Kayak Birthday Parties – something different
- Discovery Days – activities centered on interpretive beach walks, kayaking through the marshes, and plenty of great games and activities
- Eco-Adventures - older children enjoy learning the basics of sea kayaking while developing an understanding of our connection to the natural world through hands-on study of coastal ecology.
- Adventure Island - teens take a boat ride to a secluded tropical island that they'll have all to themselves. Here they will kayak in the pristine waters, engage in teambuilding activities, explore the island for Indian artifacts, and learn about coastal ecology through hands-on exploration.
- Teen Tours – teens are exploring the coastal marshlands of Hilton Head Island, where they'll have fun paddling kayaks, throwing cast nets, or even learning kayak rescue skills.
- Teen Expedition Camping - Camping on a pristine deserted island
- Wave Runners – experience the thrill of riding the waves within Calibogue Sound.
- Wakeboard/Water-ski School – novices and veterans can enjoy that water sport here.
- Parasailing - get an eagle's eye view of Hilton Head Island and the surrounding areas. View up to 20 miles in all directions.

Hilton Head Island offers this and so much more...

Sounds like fun? I think so...

What about the golfers then, what can they do?
