January 31, 2006 (FPRC) -- Crystal Power Ltd is recruiting sales force to sell Post Office products. Crystal Power is a direct sales company that is currently employing more than 100 people to join their team for selling HomePhone & Credit Cards in the UK.

Sean Henderson, Managing Director of the Crystal Power, tells, "Crystal Power is one of the UK's leading direct sales and marketing companies that works in close partnership with some of the most prominent international brand names. Founded in 1997, Crystal Power has established vastly experienced team, throughout the whole region, who all work together to make being part of the company a fun and enjoyable experience.

Regardless of your previous work experience, age or gender, if you are great at communicating, a friendly team player, outgoing with an open mind and have the willingness to be trained, the world is his oyster in our company. Almost all of our management team started at the bottom and worked themselves up to the top. They have all developed within the company by taking advantage of our 'learn and earn' on-going training policy that rewards effort, commitment, and dedication. All new employers will be fully trained on our 2 days sales training course that will give all of the skills and techniques to sell the benefits of moving to the Post Office® for their phone services or credit card needs. Having over 20 years experience in sales and marketing I will personally train all new staff sharing my knowledge of customer care and sales techniques," continues Sean.

"To submit online application form everyone can visit our website at <http://www.crystalpower.co.uk> or call us 08700 427 437 to arrange an interview to join the team," finishes Sean.
