

San Francisco Photorama: Photo Timeline of San Francisco

Seb has beautiful shots of everything at www.sfphotorama.com, including cable cars, street cars, The Ferry Building, Pier 39, Fisherman's Wharf, the Mission District, Market Street, Union Square, Yerba Buena, and lots of hidden spots ... both day and night. He's profuse, but the quality is there nonetheless.

February 9, 2006 (FPRC) -- Seb Jarakian, music supervisor for his own music licensing company, www.musync.com, has a hobby of shooting great photos of San Francisco. He has two good cameras - Olympus Camedia E-10 and a Konica-Minolta Dimage G600. His current favorite is "the little one"; so he takes it everywhere ... shooting photos of everything in sight. He walks everywhere in his home town, San Francisco, where there is an unlimited supply of subjects. He has photos of things most people just pass by without really noticing. In the photo world, this is known as having a good eye, and Seb has better than a good eye, he's got two great ones, as you'll see at his photo blog site: www.sfphotorama.com.

Seb has beautiful shots of everything at www.sfphotorama.com, including cable cars, street cars, The Ferry Building, Pier 39, Fisherman's Wharf, the Mission District, Market Street, Union Square, Yerba Buena, Transamerica Building, Cable Cars, Street Cars, North Beach, Chinatown, Alcatraz, Golden Gate Bridge, Bay Bridge, The Embarcadero and lots of hidden spots ... both day and night. He's profuse, but the quality is there nonetheless.

"I want to continue to catalog my walking around this beautiful city and share it with the whole world and I love shooting and sharing photos", said Jarakian. "San Francisco is such a beautiful city and if you can't take a trip and visit this gorgeous city then you might as well visit San Francisco Photorama www.sfphotorama.com", he added.

###

Contact Information

For more information contact Seb Jarakian of San Francisco Photorama
(<http://www.sfphotorama.com>)
415.377.5917

Keywords

san francisco
san francisco photorama
photo

You can read this press release online here