

Sam Rodman Teaches Entrepreneurs Tricks of the Cleaning Business in New Ebook

Sam Rodman just released a brand new Ebook about how to start a successful cleaning business. Readers will enjoy his experience as well as enthusiasm he the table regarding starting a successful commercial cleaning venture.

October 4, 2006 (FPRC) -- Huntington, WV September 29, 2005 -- A man by the name of Sam Rodman of Cape Coral, FL found a way to work part time and make full time earnings, he shares his experiences in his new ebook "Cleaning Up the Profits". This is the first Ebook devoted entirely to the commercial and residential cleaning business.

Sam started his own cleaning business that ended up being very profitable. He began cleaning offices. He started out with a small staff and as his clientele grew, so did his staff and his profits. His business was such a success that he decided to write a book titled, "Instant Office Cleaning Kit, Cleaning Up the Profits" detailing how others could follow in his footsteps.

This book is for people who want to 1. Work for themselves, 2. Set their own hours, and 3. Would like their income to double after a year. He gives step-by-step instructions, a source of leads, an introduction letter, a professional service agreement (the bid), bid follow-up letter, a reminder letter, estimating chart, forms, samples and more! What you will learn is:

How to get started fast and easy

How to get businesses the smart way without expensive advertising.

How to organize each job to finish faster, and create more profit.

How to project a professional image and get top dollar for your service.

How much to charge. A simple formula that's right on the money.

What kind of people to hire to do the work.

A risk-free proven method of getting customers in your area.

How to get started with little or no money.

On his website, you can download this kit with a buy back guarantee. If you read the materials that you have bought from him and for some reason are not satisfied, he will buy it back! His business has been successful for the past ten years and he has also helped others start their business and become successful. On his website you can read testimonials from people with whom he has assisted in this venture. Of course, you will get what you put into it.
