

DiscussWireless.com Unveils New Services for Online Cell Phone Consumers

DiscussWireless cell phone news, price comparison, and reviews providing consumers with informative tools to make decisions.

June 1, 2007 (FPRC) -- DiscussWireless.com, an online leader in cell phone consumer discussion and news, announced four exciting resources for online cell phone consumers and cellular enthusiasts.

Covering new methods of providing news, price comparison, mobile access, and reviews, DiscussWireless has updated their four-way approach on how they deliver information to their visitors.

Cellular consumers can now visit the DiscussWireless.com to complete all of their online research in one location. Users can receive the latest news releases in the exciting cellular blog, chat with other consumers about the latest releases and reviews in the cell phone forums, and compare prices in the shopping center section.

"We are very excited with our new focus. Consumers can now visit the web site to find their information quickly and stay current with the latest news, consumer reviews and comments," said Samantha Young, director of online marketing for DiscussWireless.com.

"For example, users can stay current by integrating our daily news into their personal online news readers. DiscussWireless is also keeping with the mobile trends. Our cell phone blog is now easily accessible from wireless handheld devices. We also facilitate unbiased reviews and consumer discussions in our cellular forums. But that still wasn't enough, not only are consumers informed with news releases, reviews, and discussion, they can now compare their phone choices online in one easy location."

Samantha continued to discuss the range of cell phones offered by DiscussWireless.com, "Comparison pricing options range from phones on plans to deals for new unlocked GSM cell phones. Just tell us what you are searching for and the web site will take you there in one click"

Web visitors can now compare cell phone prices and competitors in one location. The latest prices and offers are automatically updated daily so competitor pricing information remains fresh.

The new online mobile version of the news blog facilitates online comments and delivers the same news to mobile readers as web readers—you never have to miss a story again. Easily retrievable information is available at the click of a mouse of your review.
