

Anthony Richardson - OverVoice Announces NEW Voice Over Website

Anthony Richardson is a leading British professional voice over artist specialising in cost effective, Received Pronunciation (accent-free), voice overs for film, television, radio, animation and audiobooks.

London, United Kingdom (FPRC) July 12, 2007 -- Anthony Richardson is a leading British professional voice over artist specialising in cost effective, Received Pronunciation (accent-free), voice overs for film, television and radio. He also provides character voices for animation projects, narration for audio books and 'on-hold' messaging for telephone systems.

Anthony has outstanding vocal versatility and is quite happy to provide accents (regional and foreign) and even impersonations when required (he does a great Elvis!). As a musician, Anthony's timing is excellent - he can provide lead or backing vocals for musical projects and, as a Royal National Theatre trained sound technician, knows exactly how to get the sound and feel you want.

Anthony's voice has been described as:

"...a natural, ageless and fresh sounding voice with plenty of energy and passion..."

"...professional, versatile and genuinely jolly good...!"

"...outrageous characters to soft sell - quintessentially English..."

Recent clients include:

- * The Sulake Corporation (Habbo Hotel) - Anthony has recently provided eleven separate cartoon voices for the pilot of a new cartoon series.
- * Cambridge University - Anthony is an official voice over contractor for Received Pronunciation (accent-free) speech.
- * Listening Books (www.listening-books.org.uk), a major audio book producer - Anthony is a regular reader.

If you need any advice to help your project run smoothly, Anthony offers this completely free of charge - so don't be shy and get in touch.
