

Top 10 Alternatives to the Apple iPhone

AllAmericanBling.com announces a new Top 10 list to help consumers find lower cost, user friendly alternatives to the iPhone.

August 12, 2007 (FPRC) -- According to AllAmericanBling.com, "The Apple iPhone may be the most bling device on the market. We just think you should have some bling iPhone alternatives."

As do many consumers. Apple's iPhone has many functions all rolled into one high-tech device. The iPhone has a high dollar price tag and high monthly service fee compared to some other devices, and a touch screen interface that some may find confusing or intimidating. What are the alternatives? www.AllAmericanBling.com has its' own Top 10.

"This page was created based on feedback from our users, what's selling at our site, and in the market in general." said Jeff Young, spokesman for AllAmericanBling.com. Our 'Top 10 Alternatives to the Apple iPhone' page features BlackBerry's, Razr Phones, hand-held web browsers, and pocket PC's." said Young. "Just the kind of gear we feature as our 'Top 10 Bling of the Week.'"

What specific models of cell phones, web browsers, and pocket PC's does AllAmericanBling.com believe are the most "bling" alternatives? "You will have to click on our site to see." said Young.

What the most appropriate iPhone alternative is for any consumer, of course, depends on their wants and needs. According to Young, "Some consumers just want a cell phone with a built-in mp3 player. We have that covered on our list. Others want a portable way to surf the web. We have got you covered there too. Some want video capability, email, or games. Some want a device like this for work, some for fun. Some want something appropriate for work and home both. We make this easier to figure out with our Top 10 list."

"Our new 'Top 10 Alternatives to the Apple iPhone' page will help consumers figure out what the right device is for them. Our site features great product descriptions and device capabilities, and very straight forward reviews of the products, from both the manufacturers and consumers." Young said.

"This page is so much what our site is all about." Young said, "This list features what's in, what's hot, and what's bling."

AllAmericanBling.com is the new shopping and gift site from Vista Virtual, LLC. The website keeps consumers up with the hottest "bling" including Razr Phones, iPods, jewelry, the latest clothing, and toys.
