

Moring Arts Center in Asheboro NC Features Fine Art Photography by Ashley Fetner

The work of NC fine art photographer Ashley Fetner will be on display in a one man show at the Moring Arts Center throughout the month of September.

September 18, 2007 (FPRC) -- Throughout the month of September, the Moring Arts Center in Asheboro NC will feature the fine art photography and fine art portraits of nationally acclaimed photographer Ashley Fetner.

Fetner's fine art photography works have been featured in such publications as National Geographic Explorer Magazine, The National Geographic Landscapes of the World calendar, The Village Rambler, and North Carolina Wildlife Magazine.

Fetner has been heralded by many North Carolinans as having a gift of capturing the essence of North Carolina's heart and spirit with his powerful photography.

Fetner is one of a handful of artists who has been invited for a "one man show" at the Moring Arts Center. The breadth of styles and scope of his photography ranging from landscapes to landmarks to fine arts portraits offers a full experience for art affectionatos of all tastes.

Among the fine art photography displayed will be Fetner's Desert Storm portrait featured in The National Geographic wall and desk calendar, and his popular Angel Oak portrait featuring a 1400 year old North Carolina oak acclaimed for its healing powers.

Fetner's work can be seen throughout the month of September at the Moring Arts Center located at:

123 Sunset Ave
Asheboro, NC 27203
(336) 629-4058

About Ashley Fetner: Ashley Fetner is a professional North Carolina based fine art photographer and college photography professor at Randolph Community College. Ashley's excellence in photography has won him numerous state and national awards for his portrait and fine art images. His image titled "Poets Hat" was one of 25 chosen for the Professional Photographers of North Carolina Loan Collection.

Contact Information

For more information contact Ashley Fetner of Ashley Fetner Portraits
(<http://www.ashleyfetnerportraits.com>)
336-629-4088

Keywords

fine art photography
fine art photographer
fine art portraits

You can read this press release online here