

Breakthrough Platform Offers Comprehensive Comparisons of Music Download Sites

Users Gain Access to Comprehensive Comparisons and Easy-to-Use Database of Music Download Sites

October 6, 2007 (FPRC) -- Before you spend any time online trying to determine the very best way to go about downloading your favorite music, check first with AnyMusicDownloads.com. If you have even browsed around playfully looking at all the music download sites that are available—from membership, to one-time downloads—then you know how many options are out there and the number of decisions that a user must make in order to determine which site is the best for him or her. But no longer. Now, thanks to AnyMusicDownloads.com, users have a friendly and easy-to-use site that provides a side-by-side comparison platform of the top-recommended music download sites.

Not among the novices to the Internet or to music download sites, are the review specialists that are hired by AnyMusicDownloads.com. These individuals impartially research the best known (and lesser-known) music download sites out there. They then use strict criteria on which each site is rated. If the music download site contains the entire criterion, then that site gets our recommendation and is posted with others on our site. Following is the list of criteria that each site must meet in order to receive our recommendation: offers unlimited music downloads, including entire albums; options for movies, games and television shows as well; an 7 to 60-day money back guarantee or a free trial; must be 100% legal; provides security options such as pop-up blockers, no spyware, and no adware; and must be portable device compatible.

Once reviewers have determined that a site has met our standards to become a 'recommended' music download site, then that site's address, a screenshot and a detailed summary is provided so that users can browse and conduct a comprehensive comparison of their own. Details of each music download site includes: the type of security offered, whether free trials or guarantees are included, the price, the terms of use, type of media used, the number of music titles or albums available, and much, much more. And, if and when the time comes that a user would like some guided support from one of our music downloads site experts, there are several contact options including a toll free number, an e-mail address, or a live chat forum with immediate response.

The goal is to help music download site consumers make the best decisions possible while at the same time, displaying the value that we have for their time and money. That is why AnyMusicDownloads.com not only offers side-by-side comparisons, but helps ensure that users find reviews on the BEST, the LARGEST, the FASTEST, and the CHEAPEST music download sites.

While AnyMusicDownloads.com takes extra precaution to help ensure that all our featured music download sites are 100% legal, we also believe that it is a music fan's right to choose the music download site that best fits his or her needs. Therefore, we feature both P2P and legal music download sites.

With headquarters in Austin, Texas, AnyMusicDownloads.com serves the World Wide Web 24/7/365 and offers ongoing platform and technical support to its users. AnyMusicDownloads.com is a free service, providing impartial reviews of music download sites to consumers. Reviews that are found on the site are based on findings revealed during research of the music download site referenced and are subject to change without notice. AnyMusicDownloads.com is a 'must see' and 'most recommended' free music downloads site in channels and forums.

AnyMusicDownloads.com is for people who love music and want the best in their music download sites. For those consumers that desire choices, but want them to be presented TO them rather than searching FOR them, so they can make the best decision about which music download site is right for them, then AnyMusicDownloads.com is the site to visit.
