

Free Marketing Services

Although there is a lot of money to be made online, many new webmasters fail to earn a profit from their online business. You could have the best looking website, selling outstanding products and services at an affordable price but, if you do not apply the proper website marketing and promotional tools and techniques, you will never receive enough visitors to your website. And no visitors means no sales.

Lake Park, Georgia - October 21, 2007 (FPRC) -- Website Marketing2 has just launched their new Small Business Resource Center in order to provide free website promotion resource and marketing services for webmasters.

Internet marketer and web site promotion coach Shirley Kelly is a full time internet marketer who has written over 200 articles in print and 5 published ebooks. Her motto is: "Knowledge is power and power is having a good understanding about what you should and should not be doing."

Shirley recently took on the task of providing a place where website owners could go and find the necessary resources to market and promote their online business.

Shirley's commitment to helping others avoid the common mistakes often made when designing, marketing and promoting a website, became the driving force behind Website Marketing2 being a free website promotion resource center.

WebsiteMarketing2.com provides a variety of free website promotion resource and marketing services that includes keyword selection software, an html reference library, a free banner generator, FTP (file transport protocol) guide, free marketing ebooks, AVG virus checker, JPEG wizard, email software, free autoresponders, search engine directory, article directory, and so much more.

Stop searching all over the internet for ways to promote your online business. WebsiteMarketing2.com is a detailed resource center that offers you the opportunity to get the information you need and get it all in one central location.

If you have a website and are looking for quality information and free website promotion resource and marketing services, visit this informative and easy to follow small business resource center and get the knowledge you need to grow your online business.
