

Star Search Casting Goes Global

California Based Website www.StarSearchCasting.com Expands Reach to Include Web Visitors from Around the Globe

November 1, 2007 (FPRC) -- Star Search Casting, Inc. ( www.StarSearchCasting.com ) has quickly become the most popular casting website in the United States. Aspiring talent including actors, models, singers and dancers have used the site to find opportunities in the entertainment industry in cities across the country. But now the site welcomes an international membership base. The site not only generates a large number of hits from aspiring singers, dancers, actors and models within the U.S., but now the site has developed strong popularity with users in Africa, Asia, Australia, Europe and South America.

International residents often develop their ideas of the American Dream through portrayals in American film and television. Additionally, the admiration of American celebrities is widespread. So it's no surprise that members of the international community not only want a piece of the American Dream as they've seen it portrayed on the big screen, music videos and other productions, but they also want a career in the glamorous entertainment business. While it may have seemed impossible to aspiring talent abroad to land jobs in the entertainment industry, Star Search Casting is helping an international community of aspiring entertainers gain access to Hollywood's golden gates.

Star Search Casting's international members have been just as successful as their American counterparts. They've been signed to major agencies and booked auditions and life changing roles. Sophia Caraan, a Star Search Casting member and resident of Hong Kong recently landed representation with a major modeling agency. Benedict Adeyemi of London has found the site useful for scoring auditions.

"Star Search Casting has really helped me pursue a career as an actor," says Adeyemi. "I have been getting lots of casting calls, and voice over jobs, and it's been great."

The site's international reach has also been beneficial for casting agents and other entertainment industry professionals. SSC allows entertainment industry professionals to cast a wider net when searching for fresh faces and new talent for modeling, film, television, commercials, and other projects.
