

New Web Service Makes London Sightseeing Planning Quick and Easy

A totally new niche in the travel and tourism industry has been opened with the launch of Connie's London Planner. Unlike any other existing business, owner Connie Maderi writes personalized London sightseeing itineraries for her clients, based solely on their expressed interests.

Syracuse, NY-- November 13, 2007-- (FPRC) -- Before you invest the time and energy researching what to see and do during your upcoming London trip, check with Connie's London Planner for expert sightseeing assistance. Whether it's for a weekend or a week, Connie will do all of the work and deliver an itinerary, custom-made just for you.

A life-long lover of all things British, Connie has 16 years of experience leading groups of students on tours of London, as well as visiting for her own research and pleasure. She possesses extensive knowledge and her planner literally "walks" clients around London, from the very doorstep of their hotel to all the famous sights of this historic city.

Visitors to connieslondonplanner.com will find a free and comprehensive, one-stop resource for London sightseeing. Thumbnail sketches of tourist attractions are categorized for easy navigation. Useful information is also available on climate, money, transportation, etc., in a user-friendly format.

Those choosing to use Connie's innovative planning services find the ordering process to be quick and efficient. Clients answer a few questions about their trip and indicate specific interests. This information forms the basis of a personalized sightseeing itinerary which includes directions from place to place, advice on what to see, hours of operation, admission fees and maps, as well as interesting items and tips from Connie's own notes.

For many, a trip to London is a once-in-a-lifetime event that demands an unusual level of pre-planning. Connie's London Planner takes care of all of that, saving customers' valuable time both before and during their trip.

Each unique sightseeing planner functions as a "virtual tour guide", helping to insure that a visit of any length is memorable and fulfills the traveler's wishes from start to finish.
