

Pop Crunch, a Premier Celebrity New Blog, Launches a New Hilarious Online Show

Pop Crunch, a popular entertainment site, is glad to announce the launch of their new weekly video show, The PopCrunch Show. This show offers a strong dose of humor where the host makes fun of celebrities and their crazy actions.

December 12, 2007 (FPRC) -- Saturday Night Live is famous for their long running Weekly Update skit which details the weekly escapades of Hollywood's socialites. Well move over Tina Fey and Jimmy Fallon, and get out the way Amy Poehler and Seth Myers. Your days of Hollywood ripping banter are coming to an end. No longer will we have to wait up until the middle of the night to enjoy a gut wrenching laugh, at the expense of Hollywood's "innocent" stars.

Pop Crunch, a popular celebrity gossip blog, recently launched a snarky video blog covering the latest hollywood news. With Sarah East as the host, The PopCrunch Show is making its way into the scene with gross amounts of fodder and sarcasm that would make even the shrewdest person leap out of their chair laughing. Sarah's quick witted, disparaging remarks about Hollywood's A-list stars are not only clever and comical, but often hit right at the center of their problems.

Sarah East has given her acrimonious views on subjects such as Tom Cruise and Katie Holmes, Kate Kardashian, and Jack Nicholson. She has also not so quietly mentioned the "sex videos" of Fall Out Boy's bassist, and Paris Hilton. She gave plenty of attention this week to Lindsay Lohan and her coke problem, Tara Reid and her coke problem, and let's not forget Star Jones' cootchie. Brittany Spears got a shout out too for her rumored pregnancy and lack of ability to pop a birth control pill, though she apparently has no problems popping any other pills.

If you want to funny commentary on the latest celebrity news, look no further that The PopCrunch Show at www.PopCrunch.com/show/. You'll be laughing in no time at Sarah's quick wit and outrageous jokes.
