In addition to a written analysis, clients will receive a CD of up to 1 hour of live screen cast video and audio detailing:

- Analysis of a website's competition
- Keyword analysis and recommendations
- Analysis and recommendations for on-site optimization
- Analysis of backlinks and recommendations of generate additional quality backlinks
- Analysis of layout and recommendations for enhancing layout

Website owners can use the CD to discover exactly how the complete website analysis is preformed and pass the CD along to the appropriate people in the company responsible for handling related tasks.

"The most important part of an SEO plan is having an advanced SEO strategy in place from which to work with. Once a thorough analysis has been conducted and a plan has been created, most of the details can often be carried out by the website owner to for significant improvements in search engine ranking," says David Williams, vice president of David Williams Online/Unlimited Web Solutions (<http://www.davidwilliamsonline.com>).

Williams says that the decision to offer a website analysis service was driven by the company's desire to help more start-up internet entrepreneurs achieve their goals for success in 2008.

“While many new businesses cannot afford the full-service rates of a high-end SEO company, we wanted to find a way for companies on a budget to receive a high-end, personalized SEO plan that they could execute themselves to gain front page search engine visibility and grow their businesses in the New Year.”
