

BMW Enthusiasts Can Now Get BMW Auto Parts Advice From Top Racing Car Chief

High performance BMW parts shoppers can receive expert advice from Wade Powell, car chief for the Randy Pobst and Mark White Koni Challenge APR Motorsport GTI, and owner of Above All Motorwerks.

March 3, 2008 (FPRC) -- Wade Powell, owner of Above All Motorwerks and car chief for racecar drivers Randy Pobst and Mark White, announced that he will now offer expert one-on-one high performance BMW auto parts consultation to Above All Motorwerks customers.

“Our customers appreciate the fact that they can discuss their options for high performance BMW parts with a racing professional rather than a call center employee. Our goal is to arm our customers with the necessary information to build their ultimate performance machine,” says Powell.

Powell’s company, Above All Motorwerks, stocks thousands of OEM and high performance parts for BMW, Mercedes, Audi, Porsche, Saab, Volkswagen, and Volvo vehicles. Powell himself screens and scrutinizes every brand sold by the company.

“We only offer parts and kits with an outstanding reputation for quality and performance. If a brand or part doesn’t measure up to our guidelines for quality, customers won’t find it on our site,” says Powell.

Powell has recently approved three new big brake kits from StopTech, Brembo, and Rotor as well as two new coil-over suspension kits from Tein and KW Suspension. Customers considering these kits, or any high performance parts offered by Above All Motorwerks, can take advantage of Powell’s expert advice by contacting the parts order line published on the website to ensure they choose the right auto part for their performance goals.

About Above All Motorwerks: Above All Motorwerks offers more than 40,000 BMW auto parts and other high performance and OEM European auto parts at extremely competitive prices. The company was founded by Wade Powell, a high performance racecar driver and car chief for APR Motorsport drivers Randy Pobst and Mark White.
