March 11, 2008 (FPRC) -- MySportFolios LLC owner Sylita Thomas has created yet once again another great resource for basketball players and basketball agents alike. New company website BasketballAgencies.com is aimed at providing basketball agencies of all types a place to call home, with hopes of acquiring new clients. This is the first free resource of this kind online for basketball agents to be listed freely along with their information, direction, website and direct map of their location.

Seasoned basketball agents are very welcomed to become featured in the directory and provide the best representation for their future clients. Listings for agents, sports agents, and professional basketball services are made available freely for qualified companies. However, due to the respect of basketball players there will be a mediation of new agencies allowed in the directory in order to keep the quality above standard. New basketball agencies that have been verified and free of fraudulent activities will be included free.

Normal listings are free for a short period of time during the beta launch. After which, all agencies do have the opportunity to be included free by including a link back ("Listed in BasketballAgencies.com") to website from their company website. Featured listing for basketball agencies who would like further exposure, the fee is a nominal $15.00 per year. This is great for new agencies and those on budgets.

Many top basketball agencies from the NBA, WNBA, ABA, FIBA and Europe are listed in the free directory with more arriving everyday. This gives a chance and opportunity for basketball players to further their career in the direction that they want by having these resources available freely. Other compared basketball agent listing services are charging up to $59 a year and more to access this valuable free information at BasketballAgencies.com.

The Basketball Agencies Directory is partnering with big sponsors to make the resource available to all countries and players. "There has been a void of this type of resource for basketball players", said Thomas. Including in the directory are articles for both agents and players to help guide both into a great partnership. Agencies are available freely to publish articles and insights to help entice new players into their agencies. Players are in turn, available to rate and comment upon the various articles and agencies have published articles. "The quality of the directory is important to me and I hope that players can trust in the listings", noted by Thomas.

Sylita Thomas, encourages basketball agencies to get listed today while there is no fee.
