May 6, 2008 (FPRC) -- CARY, NC – Town & Country Realty, one of the leading Raleigh and Cary real estate firms, recently celebrated eight years of service to the community. As a thank you, Mike Montpetit, Broker in Charge, announced that the company will provide clients a free market analysis so that their clients can better estimate the value of their homes.

Montpetit says Town & Country Realty has always excelled due to their customer service. "We make the extra effort to achieve advanced designations and continue our training so that we can truly give our clients the best possible experience when buying or selling their homes in Cary and Raleigh," Montpetit says.

A real estate market analysis looks at various market factors such as taxes, population patterns and the number of homes in Cary or Raleigh currently for sale to determine the value of a property. "A market analysis is key when looking to sell your home quickly," says Montpetit.
