

The Wishing Flower Joins Others to Benefit Storm Victims.

“The Wishing Flower” and books by other authors throughout the country are being collected for an auction.

May 31, 2008 (FPRC) -- Autographed copies of “The Wishing Flower” (<http://www.thewishingflower.com>) by Moseetta M. Penick Phillips-Cermak, Ph.D. to be auctioned off to benefit storm victim, author Lacresha Hayes.

According to author Joyce A. Anthony (<http://joyceanthony.tripod.com/>) , “The recent storms in the South wreaked havoc for author Lacresha Hayes. The church run by her and her husband was severely damaged. In addition, many of those ministered to by the church have been hit hard.” The auction, the brainchild of Ms. Anthony is supported by the Lacresha Hayes' fan club (<http://lacreshahayesfanclub.weebly.com/>) with Lacresha's permission.

“This is a wonderful opportunity for ‘The Wishing Flower’ to reach children that are sad and frightened,” said Dr. Penick Phillips-Cermak. “Since ‘The Wishing Flower’ is all about love, family, and miracles, it is the perfect bedtime story for families that have lost so much”.

The books collected will be raffled off at $1.00 per chance, with the winners chosen by random drawing. All money collected will go directly into a fund to repair the church and be used to aid those in need in the storm ravaged area.

All authors who choose to contribute a book will have links to their website, blogs, purchase pages (whichever you choose) on all promotional material.

All book donations can be sent directly to
