

America's Leading Drug and Alcohol Treatment Center SouthCoast Recovery, Adds a Xanax® Addiction Treatment Program.

SouthCoast Recovery Adds A Cutting Edge Xanax® Addiction Treatment Program

June 20, 2008 (FPRC) -- SouthCoast Recovery, the leading California alcohol and drug rehab center, added a Xanax® Addiction Track to its 30, 60, 90-day and six month residential treatment programs.

SouthCoast Recovery has recognized the need for specialized drug and alcohol treatment programs like our Xanax® Addiction Treatment program for some time. Xanax® addiction has an exceptional history in that, soon after its medical introduction, a large number of cases were published in medical journals demonstrating severe withdrawal symptoms in cases of Xanax® addiction and abuse that included withdrawal psychoses, seizures and intense rebound anxiety upon discontinuation of the abuse of Xanax®.

In the United States a recent survey of physicians showed that roughly 84% of physicians reported Xanax® addiction as being extremely problematic to treat in terms of the severity and prolonged nature of the benzodiazepine withdrawal syndrome after the discontinuation of Xanax® abuse.

SouthCoast Recovery utilizes the most cutting edge Xanax® addiction treatment detoxification methods such as NTR and a combination of traditional Western medicine and advanced Eastern holistic practices, such as meditation, acupuncture and massage therapy to provide each client fighting Xanax® addiction with the most complete healing experience of mind, body and spirit, to help ease our clients through detox and recovery, making these phases as comfortable as possible. Additionally, SouthCoast Recovery offers highly trained staff members from a variety of backgrounds with over 100 years combined experience in the recovery field. Our clinical psychology staff works together with certified addiction counselors to tailor a program specific to each individual client. While at SouthCoast Recovery's Xanax® Treatment program, a clinical diagnostic test will also be used to help determine the possible existence of dual diagnoses, such as anxiety and depression or other underlying psychological problems that may exist. Staff members at SouthCoast Recovery take into account other contributing factors such as family dynamics, personal relationships, co-dependency, sexual triggers or abuse, economic factors and health conditions. Based on clinical results, a comprehensive treatment plan is developed based on each client's individual needs.

At SouthCoast Recovery, we believe that recovery from addiction is a transformation in all areas of life. Xanax® Addiction Treatment is now available during 30, 60 and 90-day residential treatment.
