

Online Health Food Store Grows Rapidly with All Natural Foods and Health Drinks

As more baby boomers become aware of the need for all natural foods in their diet, this online health food store experiences dramatic growth. After giving away thousands of free samples of their health drinks, the store now reveals several new features.

June 28, 2008 (FPRC) -- Excitement created by the Internet's fastest growing online health food store now equals the energy from the all natural foods and health drinks they offer. BestHealthFoodStore.net is setting new milestones daily as it records more than fifty thousand visitors to the site and a hundred thousand page loads. After giving away thousands of free samples, now this online source for low carb, high fiber foods, alkaline foods, healthy snacks and nutrition for athletes has surpassed many other nutrition sites that have been in business much longer.

Due to such remarkable growth, this online health food store has undergone a complete upgrade with more information about their all natural foods and health drinks. Customers immediately notice a new look, the new toll free number for sales and customer support, and an easier online ordering process. One new feature allows visitors to receive a free, personalized report explaining the ratio of alkaline foods to acid forming foods in their diet and how that affects their health when they take the Alkaline Food Test.

Additionally, BestHealthFoodStore.net customers now have the opportunity to request free catalogs and sample more items with a no risk refund policy. The site proudly displays that this online health food store will now grant full refunds to customers who are dissatisfied for any reason. Also, the free shipping requirement for orders has dropped from sixty to fifty dollars, so now more buyers enjoy free shipping on their favorite all natural foods and health drinks.

Since inception, BestHealthFoodStore.net has enjoyed steady growth with an ongoing stream of loyal customers searching for low carb foods, high fiber foods, alkaline foods and health drinks. The enthusiasm of these online health food store shoppers is expressed in the numerous testimonials now displayed at the newly renovated site. One member of the U.S. Air Force noted, "Customer service and products have all been A+."

Further upgrades include an easy new form for signing up to receive nutrition tips about all natural foods and health drinks along with special offers from this exclusive online health food store. One additional item now featured at the site is the new DVD documentary about nutrition and natural healing called, "Food Matters". Customers who order this new movie will learn from the leaders in alternative health about the challenges of food production facing the world today.

To find out more about the exciting growth of this web site, contact Jane Wakefield at BestHealthFoodStore.net. As a nutrition coach, Wakefield helps people achieve health and fitness goals they never imagined. Now, she is affiliated with this web site and offers free advice for those who ask. You may request a free catalog or take the alkaline food test to understand more about the passion so many customers have for the all natural foods and health drinks at this online health food store.

Contact Information

For more information contact Jane Wakefield of BestHealthFoodStore.net
(<http://www.besthealthfoodstore.net>)
800-375-2869

Keywords

health food store

all natural foods

health drinks

You can read this press release online here