

OSI Business Services Management Team Attending QuickBooks Conference

OSI Business Services, an outsourced virtual accounting & bookkeeping company, is making plans to attend the 3rd annual QuickBooks Enterprise Solutions User Conference in Dallas, TX. The conference will help OSI's management team remain on the cutting edge of technology and accounting practices.

September 2, 2008 (FPRC) -- POMPTON PLAINS, NJ - OSI Business Services, an outsourced accounting & bookkeeping company announces that they are sending their top employees to the 3rd annual QuickBooks Enterprise Solutions User Conference. The conference is being held in Dallas in September.

QuickBooks is an accounting software program designed to perform a vast array of business accounting functions including full general ledger, accounts receivable and accounts payable tracking, inventory management, payroll, time tracking and extensive financial reporting.

The conference will offer over 40 educational sessions, with topics focusing on accounting, finance and reporting, supply chain and inventory management, project management, job costing, payroll, IT services, sales and marketing. Attendees will also have the chance to meet one-on-one with an Enterprise Solutions support engineer, get a look at some of Intuit's latest products and services, attend the Solutions Expo to learn how Enterprise Solutions products can benefit small businesses and attend advanced educational sessions specifically designed for accounting professionals.

'Attending the conference will be a boost for us and our clients. We decided to send our management team to the Intuit QuickBooks conference because it is one of the best educational conferences in the country and will yield the most benefit to our clients. As a company, we are passionate about remaining on the cutting-edge of employee training and accounting practices for our clients,' said Dennis Najjar, CPA Managing Member of OSI (<http://www.osibusinessservices.com>).

OSI Business Service offers a comprehensive suite of online bookkeeping and accounting services such as sales invoicing, payables management, inventory control, cash management, payroll processing and full financial reporting. OSI employees all work remotely and are available to clients from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day via email, instant messenger, and phone.

'Because we're an online-based company, it's vital that we're the masters of mixing technology with accounting. Without combining the latest technology with accounting practices, we're just another bookkeeping firm. At OSI, our goal is to remain the most technologically sophisticated outsourced accounting services firm in the world,' said Najjar.

About OSI Business Services: OSI Business Services (<http://www.osibusinessservices.com>), an outsourced accounting services firm, utilizes a 100% U.S. based staff providing outsourced online bookkeeping and accounting services to small, mid-size and fast growing businesses. The company is passionate about its mission to provide a high-level of client support, deliver services in a timely, efficient and precise manner, and to continuously exceed client expectations.
