

CampaignPros.com Announces New Online Yard Sign Designer

CampaignPros.com, a leading online retailer of election yard signs and other promotional materials, announces a new yard sign designer that allows customers to create custom signs at a budget price.

September 2, 2008 (FPRC) -- LINCOLN, IL - With the political campaign season just heating up, CampaignPros.com announces their new online designer for election signs.

In business since 2006, CampaignPros.com has many different types of custom yard signs, from corrugated plastic, poly-bag, weather proofed and weather proof poster board. They also offer magnets, banners, brochures, stickers, buttons, T-shirts and a variety of other promotional items that are all printed in a union environment. Turn around time can be as quick as 5-7 days and all items can be shipped to both the United States and Canada.

'We're a one-stop shop for union created print promotional materials. Because of our relentless drive for efficiency and technology, our prices are lower and we have faster production times than our competitors. If you're looking for something not on our website, give us a call! Most likely we'll be able to create what you're looking for,' said Jon Gainer of CampaignPros.com (<http://www.campaignpros.com/>).

With their new online yard sign designer, there's no need for customers to have ready-made artwork for their election signs. CampaignPros.com offers many different sign templates that can be easily customized using different colors and wording. If the templates don't match exactly what they need, customers can utilize one of CampaignPros.com's in-house professional graphic designers for their yard sign needs.

CampaignPros.com also specializes in signage and promotional items for real estate and other businesses. 'Political candidates, business owners, and anyone in need of quality printed products can rely on us. There's no need to search for multiple producers of different items, CampaignPros.com does it all. We offer the best signs to make your campaign successful, your real estate sold and your business known,' said Andy Foster.

About CampaignPros.com: CampaignPros.com (<http://www.campaignpros.com>) is a company that specializes in custom campaign yard signs and other promotional materials. Customers can choose from many ready made templates or have the in-house graphic design staff create a completely custom sign.
