Online Deals Site DaddyDeals.com Opens Its Official Black Friday Forum

September 2, 2008 (FPRC) -- Albuquerque, New Mexico. Online shopping deals and coupons site DaddyDeals.com has opened its Black Friday Forum for shoppers seeking the best Black Friday deals. The site offers links to deals on holiday gifts including toys, games, and the latest high tech items. The day after Thanksgiving, Black Friday, the largest retailers such as Walmart, BestBuy, Toys-R-Us, and Sears offer sales hoping that they will record profits in order to put their books in the 'black.' The first 2008 Black Friday Ad to hit the site is Ace Hardware. Information on availability and ordering of hot holiday toys, such as Elmo Live or Nintendo Wii, will also be available, as well as laptops, flat-screen TVs, GPS models, and iPods. DaddyDeals offers links to all the information, sales, and tips on how to find the best deals and coupons.

DaddyDeals.com now offers Cyber Monday deals for online shoppers. Cyber Monday is the Monday immediately following Thanksgiving Day. It has become one of the busiest online shopping days of the year with online retailers reporting a 77% increase in sales. Retailers now caught in the economic downfall are aggressively pursuing consumers by offering exceptional deals on Cyber Monday. These outstanding deals can now be found at DaddyDeals.com.

Founded in 2006, DaddyDeals.com is a community forum with users contributing links to deals, printable coupons, and even free items. DaddyDeals has over 7,500 registered members with over 100,000 articles and 17,000 online coupons from over 1375 stores.
