

PM Moon Publishers First Writing Contest in Full Swing

PM Moon Publishers inaugural writing contest is underway with impressive results.

November 22, 2008 (FPRC) -- According to Sandra Poole, Administrative Editor, PM Moon is eager to offer publishing contracts to unknown writers out there.

'When we decided on a contest,' said Ms. Poole, 'we never expected this kind of response. It is wonderful that we can offer a full publishing contract to the best of the best. This is just part of our Mission Statement.

We were established for just this purpose: to work with the unknown writer. Our authors were all unpublished, or unknown before they came to us.

Our judges are wonderful and already working to find that special new title.'

Working on this project are:

Joyce A. Anthony (<http://joyceanthony.tripod.com/index.html>)

Joyce A. Anthony, the author of Storm, is a Pennsylvania-born writer who shares her home with a passion for writing, photography and life in general.

She has written numerous articles on parenting and mental health issues. She has published one short story previous to Storm

Martha Hite (<http://www.savannahscastle.com>)

Martha Hite, the author of Savannah's Castle, lives in the mountains of Western Maryland with her husband, Walter and their son Sean. She is a voracious reader and an equally prolific writer. She has finished three novels and several short stories, in addition to Savannah's Castle.

Robyn Opie (<http://www.robynopie.com>)

Robyn Opie is the author of more than 70 published children's books. She has been writing for children for 10 years; most of her books are sold around the world and many have been translated into foreign languages. She works full time writing for children and is now working with several producers on TV/Film projects.

Andrea Philhower

Andrea, better know as Tina, has a critical eye for detail which she uses often to critique authors' work.

Lois Szymanski (<http://www.loisszymanski.com/>)

Lois Szymanski, the author of sixteen books, teamed up with her high school friend and fellow author, Shelley Sykes, in the 1990's, to create a new series called The Gettysburg Ghost Gang.

She was the regional director of SCBWI for Maryland, West Virginia and Delaware.

She has written several other children's books, including the new Charming Ponies series from Harper Collins.

'We launched this process on the 15th of November 2008', said Ms. Poole. 'Further details are on our website.'

Contact Information

For more information contact Michelle Nobilis of PM Moon Publishers, Limited (<http://www.pmmoonpublishers.com>)
216-671-8445

Keywords

writers
contest
book

You can read this press release online here