

BackTaxesHelp.com Partners With the Tax Defense Network

A new partnership with the Tax Defense Network is complimenting the expert self-help articles and advice with expert IRS resolution services.

January 8, 2009 (FPRC) -- Stamford, CT (Press Release) – With tax season approaching, and a down economy, many Americans will be faced with tax bills they cannot afford to pay. This leads to major problems such as tax liens, bank levies, wage garnishments, the destruction of a taxpayer's credit and more. Back Taxes Help, LLC (BackTaxesHelp.com), a central online destination for Federal and State tax relief advice and information, has partnered with the Tax Defense Network, Inc. in an effort to meet the increased demand for their tax settlement and resolution services.

The partnership will allow Back Taxes Help, LLC to provide their user base with direct access to the Tax Defense Network's services. The Tax Defense Network was incorporated in 1997, and has over 54 years of combined legal experience with the IRS. It has effectively handled over $65 million in IRS tax debt for thousands of consumers and businesses. Tax Defense Network stated "This partnership will allow two top tier companies to provide much needed tax negotiation services to Americans in need. We are proud to be associated with BackTaxesHelp.com since we know they hold the same ethical values as Tax Defense Network. When the IRS threatens you and your family's financial well-being you deserve the best IRS representation possible and that's what we provide." Dwayne R. Harmon, Vice-President of Operations

This partnership sheds light as both companies can compliment each other in a synergetic way. Manny Vet co-founder and CEO, stated, "It makes sense. Our users have resolved many tax problems with our expert self-help articles and advice. However, in many cases, working with a former IRS agent or Tax professional results in a larger savings of time, money, and energy. We are very excited to launch with a strong tax defense firm, especially one with a reputation of success and ethics."

Charlie Cors, Co-Founder and President of BackTaxesHelp.com believes the "key to successful resolutions with the IRS is information and negotiation. The sheer complexity of the IRS code coupled with State tax laws is overwhelming taxpayers and until simplicity is reached, services will continue to be in high demand. Therefore, we believe our users deserve to work with a superior tax resolution company."
