

Essex Racing Classics Stock Ford Mustang Parts for Sale in UK & Europe

One of the UK's biggest car accessory retailer and distributors now stock Ford Mustang parts, providing the UK with the one-stop source for their classic Mustang parts.

Essex, United Kingdom -- June 15, 2009 -- Essex Racing have launched the Mustang parts website and mail order hotline to enable car restorers to find every single part they need to restore a classic Ford Mustang. The website specialize in classic Mustang parts and spares from 1965-1973. They stock everything there from panels, chrome parts, interior trim, lights, bumpers... right down to the original badges and decals. All the regular service parts are available to ensure a classic Ford Mustang car is serviced exactly as Ford intended, although if originally isn't essential there are also parts from recognised American tuners such as Edelbrock, Shelby and Fidanza there too. Essex Racing have also come up with a few parts of their own as well, such as body kits.

With the value of late model cars falling through the floor there has never been a better time to invest in a classic car and American classics are more popular than ever, but - unless it's a really rare model - it's only cars in good condition and in good working order that make worthwhile investments. In poor condition it's just an old car. Now Essex Racing can help car restorers turn an old car into a valuable classic, and at a sensible price too.

Everything is priced in Pounds (GBP) and can be sent by mail order. Unlike American websites there won't be a need to use Dollar conversions and work out import tax and international shipping and if a customer needs help, they won't have to make transatlantic phone calls at odd hours.
