June 27, 2009 (FPRC) -- OAKVILLE, ONTARIO - Oakville.com recently announced that it will be partnering with the RCGA, Canada's leading golf association, to assist with promotion of the RBC Canadian Open. The golf event is scheduled to be held in Oakville from July 20 through July 26, and will attract some of the top golfing talent in the world.

Oakville, Ontario is very proud to host the RBC Canadian Open. As the leading city guide for Oakville, Oakville.com is assisting with many of the event's promotional concerns, as well as helping interested golf spectators and players explore the many comfortable Oakville hotels.

Visitors attending the RBC Canadian Open will no doubt find the website very useful for finding Oakville restaurants as well; Oakville.com is the most comprehensive guide available for anyone visiting the area. The RBC Canadian Open 2009 will also be broadcast live on the Oakville.com website. For added convenience, on its RBC Canadian Open page, Oakville.com will feature user-friendly maps for parking locations, a comprehensive schedule of events for the week, ticket information, as well as photos and daily leader board scores throughout the event's duration.

Residents and guests alike will enjoy the RBC Canadian Open 2009. One of the most prestigious golf tournaments in Canada, the RBC Canadian Open has had many of today's top golfers as competitors. Tiger Woods once swept the entire North American Open circuit, including the RBC Canadian Open, and new talent frequently emerges on the RBC Canadian Open greens. It is one of the key tournaments for any serious golf fan looking to spot the champions of tomorrow. But it is also a fun event for the more casual golf watcher, or for a family looking for a way to enjoy the beautiful Oakville Ontario weather.

The RBC Canadian Open 2009 also marks the inaugural year of the Mike Weir Charity Classic. This unique pro-am event is scheduled for July 20 and will feature a variety of celebrities from sports, entertainment and music industries, along with premier PGA Tour players. Celebrities already scheduled include Kevin Costner, George Lopez, Tom Cochrane and more. As an exciting part of the tournament's lineup, the Mike Weir Charity Classic benefits the Mike Weir Foundation, which is dedicated to the advancement of emotional, educational and physical welfare of children. "Oakville.com is excited to share Oakville's treasures with visitors attending the RBC Canadian Open 2009. The website has long been a valuable resource, as many tourists visiting Oakville Ontario can attest. Even first time homebuyers will find Oakville.com useful: there are real estate listings and purchase information available with only a few mouse clicks," says Richard Douglas, President of Oakville.com.

The information available isn't just for visitors. Those who live in Oakville can rely upon the website for interesting articles, classifieds, and job listings. The Oakville restaurants guide has helped many discover new favorite eateries, and events calendars have helped many residents enjoy their town to the fullest. There are also a myriad of classifieds, where businesses and services can get listed and make themselves available to potential clients. Through the user-friendly website, Oakville residents have access to a convenient online listing of the best businesses in their area. Oakville.com also offers news from Oakville Ontario.

Oakville.com is updated daily, keeping all content accurate and ensuring no Oakville event is missed. It is hardly surprising that the website is the busiest Oakville guide, with more than 1,000 visitors per day adding up to over 30,000 visitors each month. Usually, these visitors are looking for a particular business or service within Oakville, including Oakville hotels. But many of these site visitors are residents looking for a nearby movie theatre or an interesting place to take their kids. They may even be hunting for a new job.

Oakville.com's work with the RCGA is expected to ease access for new visitors and residents to the RBC Canadian Open 2009. The online streaming video from the tournament is also expected to help bring golf to many more Canadians. The addition of RBC Canadian Open information to the existing Oakville.com website is set to make this year's tournament a truly great event.
