

Online Health Insurance Resource, HealthInsurancePlan.us, Launches New State By State Insurance Guide

HealthInsurancePlan.us announces the launch of a new state by state guide to health insurance plans. The guide helps users compare California health insurance with Florida health insurance, and every state in between.

July 23, 2009 (FPRC) -- MIAMI, FL - HealthInsurancePlan.us, a website devoted to helping Americans find the right health insurance coverage, announces it has added state by state insurance guides to its extensive health insurance resources.

The state by state guides put vital health information directly into the hands of users. A California resident, for instance, can look up California health insurance information to find key demographic information regarding health statistics. Information on the site includes each state's percentage of people without health insurance, the rate of cancer and cardiovascular deaths and resources on where to look for California health insurance, even if the user has been previously denied. Also available is the contact information for each state's senators and governor to make contacting representatives about health coverage easier.

"Health care and health insurance are such hot button topics in this country, and we are trying to do our part to allow Americans to make their own decisions regarding their health care. Our information on Florida health insurance plans will help Florida residents with all their health care needs. From our site, residents can choose to contact their state's governor or senators, find out about free or reduced rate state-run insurance plans for children or compare individual health insurance plans. Our easy to navigate site makes educating yourself about health insurance a breeze," said Grace Della, VP of Online Marketing for HealthCare.com.

In addition to HealthInsurancePlan.us and HealthCare.com, the company also owns HealthInsuranceFinders.com. All three sites are designed to help users navigate the tricky world of health care and insurance. Users can search for a variety of plans, including individual health insurance, group health insurance, student health insurance, Medicare supplemental insurance, short-term health insurance and dental insurance. Customers are even able to search for approved health providers in their local area.

"HealthInsurancePlan.us was created with our customers in mind. In addition to the state by state insurance guide, users can tailor health insurance plans to their own needs and budget. Health care plans can vary so much according to the state the plan is written in, so it's important for health insurance seekers to find a plan specific to their state. Our new website makes it easy for customers to find out valuable information they need to get high quality, affordable health care, no matter what state they live in. We're here to help, even if you've been previously denied health insurance," said Della.
