

HMSPANEL - Linux Hosting Control Panel V3.5 Release Date Announced

HMSPANEL.Com, a web hosting control panel provider announced the HMSPANEL v3.5 release at end of the August.

July 29, 2009 (FPRC) -- San Antonio, Texas, US – HMSPANEL.Com, a web hosting control panel provider announced the HMSPANEL v3.5 release at end of the August. A web hosting control panel is the interface provided by the hosting company to its users for the maintenance and monitoring of the hosted website. Hosting control panels also allow webmasters to manage their servers' core services and include a variety of monitoring tools.

Features of new release are as follows:

- 1) Improved and redesigned CSR/SSL creation
- 2) Improved hosting plan manager
- 3) Server monitoring enhancements have been added
- 4) Fixes have been applied to the server bandwidth usage graphs
- 5) Full CentOS 5.3, Red Hat 5, and Fedora Core 10 support
- 6) Improved and optimized server installers
- 7) Simplified secondary server installers

While HMSPANEL is available for free trial it has a range of premium solutions available to corporate and other users. According to the company various new services will come online in the very near future to assist users with collaborating with customers and commercializing their data. The vPro Systems team plans to add more features to its new version of software.

John Brown says 'Unlike some products that have a limited focus, HMSPANEL can provide total hosting management' He added 'This is an all in one revolutionary combo deal.'
