Green Jeans Creative signs new start-up business, Holiday Publications

August 18, 2009 (FPRC) -- Denver, CO, USA - Green Jeans Creative, a Denver-based graphic design firm, announced today the signing of their new client, Holiday Publications, a new publication company located in Denver, CO. They are starting off their business venture with the creation of a Colorado visitors guide publication.

Green Jeans Creative will be responsible for the design of two of Holiday Publications' communications pieces, their sell sheet/rate card and mock-up publication. The sell sheet/rate card will provide potential advertisers with information about the visitors guide, traveler statistics and publication rates. The mock-up publication will be a starting point for the final design process of the publication. Green Jeans Creative will be starting with 4 main pages that will include layouts that will be found throughout the guide.

"We are very excited about this project and this new partnership. Holiday Publications is a terrific account for us. We understand the mindset of a start-up business, their budget restrictions and their tight deadlines. We are extremely confident in our ability to help this company move forward. They are a start-up with many more projects ahead of them. We hope to continue our relationship and create more designs for their upcoming projects," commented Anne Grinney-Colomban, Partner at Green Jeans Creative.
