

DaddyDeals.com Launches Black Friday Forum

Online Deals and Coupons Site DaddyDeals.com Opens Its Official Black Friday Forum for Third Year

September 28, 2009 (FPRC) -- Albuquerque, New Mexico – For the third consecutive year online shopping deals and coupons site DaddyDeals.com has opened its Black Friday Forum for online shoppers. The forum is designed for those shoppers seeking the earliest and best Black Friday deals on all their holiday needs. The site offers links to deals on a vast array of holiday gifts including but not limited to high tech items such as lightweight laptops, GPS systems, and Wii while it also features deals on the most sought after toys that consumers diligently seek out for their children.

Black Friday is the day after Thanksgiving and large retailers such as K-Mart, Wal-Mart, BestBuy, Target, Toys-R-Us, and Sears offer extravagant sales in order to increase sales and thus record profits to put their accounting books in the “black.” DaddyDeals.com once again allows consumers to access links not only to the best deals and coupons but also provides information on the availability and ordering status of the hottest holiday toys, like the zhu zhu hamster toys, that are often difficult to find for those last minute shoppers.

DaddyDeals.com also features a Cyber Monday forum on deals for online shoppers. The Monday immediately following Thanksgiving Day known as Cyber Monday has become one of the busiest online shopping days of the year with retailers reporting hefty increases in online sales. These huge, early, and exceptional deals can now be found at DaddyDeals.com.

Founded in 2006, DaddyDeals.com is a community forum with users contributing links to deals, travel, printable coupons, and free items. DaddyDeals.com has over 10,000 registered members with 128,000 articles and over 20,000 online coupons from over 1740 stores.
