

CertExams.com - Releases CSS Compliant Website Update

CertExams.com, a leading practice tests and network simulator products site, releases major update to their popular website: CertExams.com.

October 18, 2009 (FPRC) -- CertExams.com, a leading practice tests and network simulator products site, releases major update to their popular website: CertExams.com. The website features IT certification practice tests, network simulators, tutorials, and practice questions.

Among the updated features are several enhancements to the site navigation and layout. The new navigation ensures easy navigation throughout the website, and uses CSS extensively for implementation of new features.

The website features the following:

- Network simulator for Cisco Certified Network Associate (CCNA), Cisco Certified Entry Network Technician (CCENT), and Juniper JNCIA.
- Online tests for CCNA certification, CCNA ICND1, MCSE, CompTIA A+, Network+, Server+, CIWA, and others.
- Exam notes and practice questions for CCNA, A+ Certification exam, Network+ exam, CCNA ICND1, and others.

The revamped website enables better search engine visibility, and improved user experience. It is our endeavour to provide incremental updates continually to our valued visitors and customers.
