October 27, 2009 (FPRC) -- MIAMI, FL - Premier life insurance service, Lifelnsurance.org has recently streamlined and redesigned its site, in an effort to assist users who come to the site in search of life insurance quotes. The site includes company profiles, state guides and questions to ask before buying a life insurance policy.

Lifelnsurance.org is a valuable resource for users who may not understand the difference between the many types of life insurance. Lifelnsurance.org also allows users to search through an extensive database of all types of life insurance, including: term life and permanent life insurance, which includes whole life insurance, universal life insurance and variable life insurance. Also included is a state by state guide that includes state specific insurance codes and benefit processing times. After visiting the site, users will be confident knowing they've gained the necessary knowledge to choose the most appropriate type of life insurance.

Site users can search for life insurance quotes once they have determined which type of life insurance is best for them. Users can search for life insurance quotes by zip codes, making it easy to find a local representative. There is no charge for the search feature and Lifelnsurance.org does not collect a fee from site users.

We want Lifelnsurance.org's users to leave our site feeling confident about their options with some of the industry's biggest names so we've even included a set of questions to ask a potential life insurance provider. Site users will receive quotes from companies such as Transamerica, Northwestern Mutual, Gerber Life, MetLife, ING and HSBC," said Grace Della, VP of Online Marketing for Lifelnsurance.org.
