

MPD Development Corp. Launches Real Estate Investment Blog

Leading real estate development firm MPD-development.com has announced the launch of its new real estate investment blog aimed at discussing the latest trends in real estate investment.

October 30, 2009 (FPRC) -- BOCA RATON, FL – One of the nation's real estate and real estate investment firms, MPD Development Corp., is proud to announce its new blog. Aiming to connect with investors and provide information on trends locally, regionally, and nationally, MPD Development (NYSE symbol MPDD) says that the blog is designed to be a hub for real estate information.

"As a leading real estate development firm, we feel that it's important to keep private investors informed about the nuances and trends in real estate investment," said a representative from MPD Development.

The blog's first post, 'Does it Make Sense to Invest in Real Estate In a Housing Downturn' offers practical, expert information for consumers about investing in the recession.

"It's important to be smart in a financial crisis, investors must seek out the right opportunities together with the proper information to accompany them. This is where MPD Development steps in. MPDD navigates their clients to the best investment opportunities with maximum earning potential."

The new blog is a way for MPD Development to publish timely real estate investment information to the general public. Whether it's buying, general interest or selling, the blog is set to discuss the latest trends, foresight and all-around 'know how's' via the personal experience of the MPD Development team.

"Our business model is distinctive. It helps us to continue to grow and develop as an organization. But at the same time our combined knowledge, through our team of experts and our vast network strategically positions us to threat the front lines of the best market sectors," continued MPDD. "This ensures that we are always bringing the very best concepts and growth opportunities to our clients."

MPD Development Corp. offers a wide range of services including real estate development, selection, purchasing and value addition. The goal of MPD Development is to maximize profit opportunities for their clients. MPDDdevelopment.com, the company's website, also boasts a strong internal network of partners that only further strengthen the company's goals and business prospects. These include brokers, property owners and local agencies.

About MPD:

MPD Development Corp. is a premier real estate acquisition and development company. The company successfully identifies and capitalizes on lucrative local, regional and nationwide real estate opportunities for private real estate investors. As part of its services, MPD possesses the ability to locate excellent properties, negotiate outstanding deals and add value to the package.

Contact Information

For more information contact Manager of MPD Development Corp.

(<http://mpd-development-corp.com/>)

Keywords

MPD Development

MPDD

MPDDevelopment

You can read this press release online here