

New IT Jobsites to Focus on PHP Jobs and SEO Jobs Launched by CV Screen

CV Screen launch new jobsites to focus on PHP Jobs and SEO Jobs market.

November 3, 2009 (FPRC) -- Specialist IT Recruitment Agency CV Screen have launched two new niche job boards which will focus on attracting PHP Developers and SEO specialists to relevant and exciting new opportunities.

The sites which can be found at <http://www.phpjobsuk.co.uk> and at <http://www.sejobboard.co.uk> are already ranking on the first page of leading search engines such as Google for a number of related search terms.

CV Screen's Managing Director Matthew Iveson explained 'With the IT Jobs market improving, we are finding more and more candidates are looking for relevant niche sites rather than the larger job boards which often have duplicate vacancies and are difficult to sift through.'

Iveson then expanded on the launch of the sites 'Our aim with these sites is to replicate our success from the CV Screen website which ranks on the first page of Yahoo, Google and Bing for IT Recruitment related searches.'

In conclusion Iveson added 'We have seen a massive increase in the number of SEO Jobs and PHP Jobs registered over the last 12 months and feel that these sites will enable us to further build our network of candidates and provide the best possible applicants to our expanding client base.'
