

Commercial & Residential Lighting Sale at Access Discounts

Save Up to 60% on Energy Saving Lighting

November 27, 2009 (FPRC) -- www.AccessDiscounts.com - a leading supplier of commercial lighting, home lighting and energy saving lighting, today announced its holiday sale.

Just in time for the winter season, customers can benefit from significant price reductions on the highest quality energy saving lights. With a huge selection of commercial and residential lighting designed to reduce energy costs for your home or business.

Access Discounts has a large assortment of energy saving commercial lighting and energy saving home lighting, giving customers the ability to choose from their large selection of indoor and outdoor energy saving lights.

During the colder holiday season, indoor lighting and outdoor lighting is necessary not only for safety, but for setting the mood for social gatherings. Often consumers neglect the essentials to a good holiday gathering and focus on temporary decorations. The addition of energy saving lighting and cost reducing fixtures can often be the most powerful element to holiday lighting but carries the value on well through the holiday season.

From indoor fluorescents to outdoor lighting fixtures such as canopy lights and garden bollards to wallpacks and flood lights, Access Discounts carries top brands such as Hunter Kenroy and Sunblaster.

"Our instant savings on energy saving lights offers consumers huge cost savings," stated NAME, spokesperson for Access Discounts. As the economy continues to waiver, it is important to our business philosophy to offset the burden with value and continuous product savings," NAME concluded.

As always, Access Discounts offers the lowest prices online. Combine that with their safe and easy ordering process and knowledgeable and responsive customer service, they guarantee your satisfaction. By offering precision engineered products meeting ETL, UL & CUL standards, the company brings the very best in energy efficient lighting solutions to market while passing savings on to their customers. Customers can take advantage of Access Discounts' price breaks and implement power saving and cost saving solutions with minimal investment.
