FreeOnlineCPR.com, announces an online CPR certification program with free CPR courses.

The site also has a variety of other health-related certifications, including first aid certification.

January 5, 2010 (FPRC) -- McKINNEY, TX - FreeOnlineCPR.com, a leading website offering online CPR certification, announces it is providing site's visitors with free online CPR courses.

The courses at FreeOnlineCPR.com are designed to be easy to use. The online format makes these courses ideal for anyone who works long hours, spends their days with children or who has a difficult time making it to an in-person CPR course.

"We know that emergencies requiring first aid or CPR can crop up any time and we've worked hard to make sure that our courses are designed and written by medical doctors. Our free, online courses are ideal for anyone who wants to learn CPR or first aid, but can't find a convenient time to take an in-person course. The courses are full of important information, high quality full color illustrations and photos and we'll soon be adding in animations to further enhance the course experience. You never know when you may be required to use CPR or first aid to save the life of a loved one or stranger and we want to make sure everyone has the opportunity to learn these life-saving measures," said Dr. Jehangir Gowani of FreeOnlineCPR.com.

In addition to free health care provider, BLS CPR, first aid, blood borne pathogens and adult CPR courses, FreeOnlineCPR.com offers the lowest certification prices online. Two year certifications in basic first aid, BLS CPR, health care provider and adult CPR and a one year certification in blood borne pathogens are just $14.99 for the first course. A second certification is just $10 and a third, fourth or fifth certification is just $5.

Students can receive their certifications in a variety of ways. Once a student has achieved a passing score on the certification exam, the certification and wallet identification card are immediately available to print from a home or office printer. Successful students can also request that the certifications arrive in the mail for a low shipping fee.

"We pride ourselves on providing our students with free online courses and the lowest certification prices on the internet. We've worked hard with a team of medical doctors to make sure our students receive the best instruction available, whether they're looking to get an initial first aid certification or a CPR recertification" said Dr. Gowani.

The courses and certification exams are also found at OnlineCPRCertification.net and FirstAidCertification.org.
