January 25, 2010 (FPRC) -- AURORA, CO – Cases.com, a popular online electronic device cases superstore, recently announced new Case-Mate Hybrid Tough cases have been added to its expansive selection of high quality, durable phone accessories. Cases.com offers the new Hybrid Tough cases for a wide variety of stylish hand-held devices, including BlackBerry Bold 9700, Blackberry Storm2 (9550), BlackBerry Tour (9630), and Apple iPhone 3G / 3GS.

Case-Mate's innovative Hybrid Tough cases provide users with dual layers of protection, minimizing the risk of damage to both the phone's external and internal components. The first layer of protection features a form-fitting silicone skin that envelops the electronic device to safely absorb each impact. Available in green, blue, pink and black, the silicone skin is an innovative approach to cell phone protection.

For even added defense, Case-Mate's Hybrid Tough cases also include a durable, hard ABS plastic shell that is wrapped securely around the resilient silicone skin. The attractive, patterned gray shell not only minimizes the threat of phone damage, but it also provides the user with a firm, easy to hold grip.

"Case-Mate's new Hybrid Tough cases provide stylish durability that we're sure our customers will appreciate. With the cases' innovative dual layers of protection, users can rest assured that their handheld devices are safe and secure," says Alex German of Cases.com.

In addition to the dual layers of protection, Case-Mate's Hybrid Tough cases also offer users enhanced dust-proofing of the phone's controls as well as easy access to all ports and buttons. For added value, a screen protection kit is also included with every Hybrid Tough case purchase.

"All of the Case-Mate cases we carry are extremely high quality, and the new Hybrid Tough cases are no exception. With their fun colors and rugged durability, I'm confident these affordable cases will quickly become one of our best-selling products," says German.
