'These are not old time radio shows, but incredible simulations!' beams BearManor Audio Executive Producer Joe Bevilacqua, who voiced 90% of the audio book, including dead-on impressions of Paul Frees as The Green Lama, Gale Gordon as Mr. Conklin, Richard Crenna as Walter Denton, Paul Sutton as Sgt. Preston, and even essays some of the woman roles including the voice of Candy Matson!

For the woman roles Bevilacqua could not voice, he turned to his talented wife and creative partner, Lorie Kellogg, who has acted in many of his radio theater productions in the past. Kellogg is the voice of Eve Arden's Connie Brooks in the new 'Our Miss Brooks' story, as well as voicing her landlady Mrs. Davis, Clyde Beatty's wife and other roles.

'OTR fans tired of listening to the same old recordings over and over will love these new audio stories!' concludes Bevilacqua. 'Joe Bev' (as he also known) is a veteran radio drama producer, whose past credits include XM Radio's THE COMEDY-O-RAMA HOUR, THE MISADVENTURES OF SHERLOCK HOLMES, and OLD TIME RADIO PARODIES.

Bevilacqua also current hosts the daily Shokus Internet Radio hit 'Cartoon Carnival,' 'The first radio cartoon show ever!' Listen online EVERY day at www.shokusradio.com - 3 PM (PDT), 5 PM (CT), 6 PM (ET).
