

M.O.M. For America Announces Michelle Malkin Will Deliver the Keynote Address at Their First Annual Banquet.

Conservative blogger, syndicated columnist, and New York Times bestselling author, Michelle Malkin, will be the keynote speaker at the M.O.M. for America Banquet on August 28, 2010 in Washington, DC.

February 11, 2010 (FPRC) -- WASHINGTON - Conservative blogger, syndicated columnist, and author of the latest New York Times bestseller, "Culture of Corruption: Obama and His Team of Tax Cheats, Crooks, and Cronies", Michelle Malkin, will be the keynote speaker at the M.O.M. for America First Annual Banquet on Saturday, August 28, 2010. The banquet will take place at the Marriott Metro Center, Washington, DC on Saturday evening.

"We are thrilled to have Michelle join us at our first annual banquet to expose the excessive federal spending and increasing governmental interference in the lives of our children and families," said M.O.M. for America National Spokesperson, Leigh-Ann Bellew.

"M.O.M. for America was founded for the mothers of the United States who are concerned about the future of their children. Our children and grandchildren are our mission... our promise... our very lives!" said Claudia M. Nelson, National Coordinator founder of the group. "We oppose the ongoing and increasing involvement of government in the lives of our families, the indoctrination of our children and the mortgaging of their futures!"

By joining with others in Washington, D.C., the group aims to encourage Americans to "Stand up for our rights, as moms, to raise our children in a manner that reflect the principals of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness expressed through the documents so wisely developed by our Founding Fathers," said Bellew. "Our goal is to educate moms and families across the country."
