

The Equestrian Corner Features New Styles And Models Of Breeches From The Tailored Sportsman

The Equestrian Corner, a leading online retailer of equestrian clothing, now offers a variety of new styles of riding breeches and show clothes from leading equestrian designer The Tailored Sportsman.

February 15, 2010 (FPRC) -- BRONXVILLE, NY - The Equestrian Corner, a popular online retailer known for quality equestrian clothing and riding gear has added new styles and models of horse riding breeches from The Tailored Sportsman to its line-up of equestrian apparel brands. The Tailored Sportsman is classic in design and versatile in style for any level of riding - from the show ring, to eventing, schooling, or casual riding.

The Supreme Hunter breeches style embodies the classic style of The Tailored Sportsman. The classically tailored breech is made from 19-ounce 4-way imported super stretch fabric. Supreme Hunter breeches are available in low-rise and regular-rise in white, new green beige and tan and are the perfect choice for 'A' circuit hunter/jumper ring and event riding. Supreme Hunter breeches feature a no-flair side zip, Velcro closures, goatskin patches, and fine quality pocketing and trimmings.

Other popular styles of horse riding breeches include Royal Hunter low-rise breeches and Trophy Hunter low-rise breeches. The Royal Hunter style is modeled after the favorite "A" circuit breech and is available in both new green beige, white, rust and tan and is perfect for the "A" circuit hunter/jumper ring or local shows. Royal Hunter breeches are made from the finest imported fabric for ideal stretch and fit and feature a size zipper, two front top pockets, Velcro closures, goatskin patches and fine quality pocketing and trimmings.

The Trophy Hunter style is a trendy new addition to the Tailored Sportsman line and is great for riders who prefer a low-rise with front zip. The lightweight, woven 95 percent cotton and five percent Lycra fabric provides four-way stretch for comfort. The classic European leg seams, Clarino knee patches, front pockets, side zip, belt loops, and Velcro leg closures make these breeches perfect for schooling and causal riding.

"We're excited to offer our customers more style options of quality breeches. The Tailored Sportsman line is fine equestrian apparel that is synonymous with classic lines, and quality craftsmanship that matches the type of quality and style we believe in," said Anne Coyle of The Equestrian Corner.

An affordable option is the latest addition to the Tailored Sportsman line. The TS low rise and regular rise breech comes in new green beige and tan. The TS breech is a versatile option for schooling, yet classy enough for the show ring. It's also, available in a 'slim fit' for tall, slender legged riders. In addition to breeches, The Equestrian Corner also offers The Tailored Sportsman gloves, show shirts and show coats.
