

RecruiterBuddy Job Board Offers Free Postings To Assist Job Seekers

With the economic climate still being uncertain and many Americans still looking for work, RecruiterBuddy.com is adding a FREE job board to their website offering the unemployed a path to a potentially new career and new beginning! RecruiterBuddy owner Matthew Hakaim says "We see the opportunities out there on the job boards and we are bringing these jobs to all who need them".

February 23, 2010 (FPRC) -- RecruiterBuddy is growing fast. "We are being inundated with demo requests daily while signing on new clients every week," says Hakaim. "We are grateful for the positive feedback we're receiving from our current customers and trial users, and we are hoping that companies will grab this opportunity to post their job openings for free. Together we can connect people to jobs". Everyone is invited to post on RecruiterBuddy and there are no restrictions to the number of postings. Whether you are a hiring manager looking to fill a vacancy, a third party recruiter looking for viable candidates, or perhaps someone who just happened to hear about a job opening, post your information for free on RecruiterBuddy. Hakaim adds, "This is a way that every one of us can help our unemployed neighbors find a job. Sharing is Caring".

RecruiterBuddy is not an employment agency. RecruiterBuddy is a tool used by recruiters to manage clients, contacts, and open requisitions. Among RecruiterBuddy's standard features is their "Sleuth Tool." The Sleuth Tool allows RecruiterBuddy users to source candidates over the entire web for talent. The RecruiterBuddy bundle also offers their "Resume Parser"- it filters out information such as key skills and auto-fills the contact record. Users of RecruiterBuddy praise its ease of use and its ability to produce candidates. The user friendly "search feature" that is built in to RecruiterBuddy acts as an insurance policy that no candidates will fall through the cracks. The internal search feature allows users to source the entire database using key search terms that are specific to their job openings. This guarantees that only the most qualified candidates are found. RecruiterBuddy is 100% web-based no matter where you are in the world, as long as you have internet access you have your sources. There is nothing to download and no servers to maintain with the RecruiterBuddy System. Users of the RecruiterBuddy system are praising the sourcing tools, resume parser, and candidate management as well as the low cost. At a base cost of fifty dollars a month with no long-term commitment requirements, RecruiterBuddy is a very affordable office tool. Because they are confident that you will find RecruiterBuddy to be an invaluable tool, they offer a 30-day free trial.

Contact Information

For more information contact Matthew Hakaim of RecruiterBuddy (<http://www.recruiterbuddy.com>)
877-727-6384

Keywords

Recruiters

Free

Jobs

You can read this press release online here