

Deltran Battery Charger - Creator of “Pink Battery Tender Plus” Charity - is now Available at Impact Battery

Impact Battery announces an alliance with several businesses to offer new “smart battery chargers” to its customers. In addition, this benevolent company has added the National Breast Cancer Foundation (“Pink Battery Tender Plus”) to its list of donation recipients.

February 26, 2010 (FPRC) -- Impact Battery, an online commercial and recreational battery store, announces partnership with four premium battery charger lines, offering more than fifty “smart chargers” to their comprehensive battery inventory. Through this website, batteries are available for everything from laptops to motorcycles, and anything in between.

Smart chargers are microprocessor controlled, meaning they are capable of charging a battery indefinitely without damaging the battery or product. They are also safe, spark proof and reverse polarity protected

The “Battery Tender” by Deltran is a very popular motorcycle and recreation charger. Recently, Deltran created the “Pink Battery Tender Plus,” providing the same high quality, with a percentage of each sale going to the National Breast Cancer Foundation, Inc. With riding season quickly approaching, this charger is a must-have for avid motorcyclists who would like to contribute to an important charity and buy the best battery charger on the market at the same time.

Other new products include the Genius Charger by NOCO, the most advanced waterproof onboard marine charger available. This lightweight design has an eight step charge profile and can charge up to six batteries at one time.

The PulseTech Xtreme Charger, third of the new line up of products, not only charges a battery but extends its life by restoring and reconditioning it through patented pulse frequencies. These new products are also microprocessor controlled and reverse polarity protected.

The fourth of the new lines comes from Quick Charge Chargers. These industrial style units are designed for forklifts, heavy equipment and auto shops. Multi-bank, no-polarity and 100 amp chargers will be available through this new brand.

Impact Battery’s owner, Darren Somerville says, “With the addition of these four premium brands we have secured our lead in offering the largest selection of chargers in one place. Best of all we are still able to support charity with every purchase!”

Impact Battery is a division of the Benevolence Group; an organization dedicated to kindness, compassion and goodwill. A portion of each Impact Battery sale goes to your choice of several reputable charitable organizations. “Thanks to our customers, we are truly making an IMPACT,” says owner Darren Somerville.
