March 11, 2010 (FPRC) -- Netherlands based AV Point recently installed a Navori digital signage system on behalf of DSM Resolve. The system drives five screens located in different areas (entrance, reception, waiting room, hall and corridor). Visitors and employees can easily consult the various screens for information that ranges from corporate news to other business related information.

The system is extremely flexible enabling DSM Resolve to show one message in a specific area while showing different information elsewhere. For example, a welcome message can be displayed in the lobby while a message to the employees is shown in another area.

The content is easily to prepare and can be updated on a daily basis by DSM staff.

This corporate communications system is driven by a Navori Enterprise Server that controls 5 Navori Players installed in each location.

Navori's Designer software is used to create customized content by DSM personnel as required.

The content is displayed on five 42" LG LCD screens.
