March 23, 2010 (FPRC) -- Orlando, Florida – Jonathan A. Bullard, an internet entrepreneur with a vision to help people make their dreams come true, is pleased to announce the launch of YourLifeBox.com a new social networking site for people to share their dreams and with help from others, fulfil them. By combining the best aspects of the top social networking sites like Facebook and YouTube, Jonathan has created a special place where dreams can become a reality.

As with all social networking sites YourLifeBox.com is all about friends. By joining this unique community you get the chance to share your aims, goals and dreams. Find support and encouragement and at the same time support others as they reach for the sky. With a little bit of help from your friends, your dreams can become a reality.

YourLifeBox.com has already begun helping people. One member of the site dreamed of working in TV and Film, not long after posting his dream he received details about a TV production company in New York which eventually landed him a job interview and a position with the company. Another member's dream was to become a physician's assistant but she needed first to receive volunteer experience and shadow a qualified physician. Her wish came true when another member reached out and put her in touch with a doctor that she could shadow to gain that vital experience.

'There are so many talented individuals in the world who have ideas and dreams that never become a reality because they are in an environment that does not support their dreams and hopes' said Jonathan A. Bullard founder of YourLifeBox.com 'A simple thing like positive encouragement can potentially change the world.'

The YourLifeBox.com website also has a section called YLB TV which features a show called '1Dream 1Day' where motivated individuals are filmed while on their journey towards their dreams.
