

Forthofer Marketing Launched Website For Baseball's Biggest Rivalry

Forthofer Marketing launches new website targeted at baseball biggest rivalry, the New York Yankees vs. the Boston Red Sox

March 26, 2010 (FPRC) -- The recent launch of MyRedSoxYankeesTickets.com by Forthofer Marketing has enabled baseball fans to get tickets to the biggest rival games in the MLB. Owner Jason Forthofer saw the compassion the fans of the Red Sox had and used this experience to launch his website to help crazed fans get the tickets they want to the rival games.

These tickets can be bought from StubHub, which MyRedSoxYankeesTickets.com has linked to on their website, for fans to get their tickets to some of the most heated games in the MLB, and experience the anger and excitement for themselves.

"As with all that Forthofer Marketing strives for, we want this website to become the best online destination behind this great baseball rivalry," said Jason Forthofer. Not only does his website have tips for obtaining tickets for Red Sox vs. Yankees games, but also gives information to anyone interested in the largest rivalry in Major League Baseball. The history of the rivalry is laid out for people to read and it even goes into detail about the coaches for each team.

The layout of MyRedSoxYankeesTickets.com has the scheduling for the 2010 season which all information pertaining to each individual game. Along with this scheduling information, the site enables fans to vote for their favorite teams and share their thoughts on the current game. If a Yankee fan is angry that the Red Sox are winning, his thoughts can be posted publicly for all rivalry fanatics to see. As if this information wasn't enough to lure a MLB fanatic into utilizing the website, it also provides articles on the two stadiums- Fenway Park and Yankee Stadium - to help fans decide which games to attend if they are unsure.

Even though the website is run out of Dacula, GA, far away from where the rivalry games take place, the website strives to inform fans of the fascination of the rivalry and why people enjoy it so much. Visit MyRedSoxYankeesTickets.com today to feel the history, the tension, and the passion behind the rivalry and to score yourself tickets to a Red Sox versus Yankees game today!
