

New Website Launched for Outsourced Marketing Services and Solutions

New website launched to help small businesses achieve their marketing and communications goals.

March 29, 2010 (FPRC) -- San Diego. Holistic Marcom, a comprehensive marketing and communications resource for small businesses announces the official launch of their new website. Holism is the idea that the individual parts of a system are all connected and dependent on each other. The Holistic MarCom concept is based on the development, design and implementation of marketing and communications initiatives that recognize the interdependency of individual MarCom activities and leverages their consolidated strength to achieve the most traction in the market place.

In conjunction with the new website, Holistic MarCom has also launched company pages in the powerful social media sites Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn. Michael Gans, founder of Holistic MarCom and creator of the Holistic MarCom website notes, 'I am excited to see the culmination of a project this size. Juggling the construction of this website with the work from existing clients was challenging, but worth the effort.' Holistic MarCom is now open for business to any organization that needs assistance with their marketing and communications efforts. Contact Michael directly for more information.
