April 22, 2010 (FPRC) -- WHITE HOUSE TN - JHE's Log Furniture Place continues to expand their log furniture line to include new lines of cedar and aspen furniture to better serve their customers.

Log furniture is an investment that is built to withstand the test of time. The natural beauty of the wood adds character and originality to each piece of furniture, giving the wood a unique personality. Log furniture is 100 percent natural wood, which makes it entirely eco-friendly and safe for the environment.

JHE's Log Furniture Place offers both indoor and outdoor white cedar, red cedar, aspen, pine, reclaimed barn wood and hickory furniture with products ranging from yard swings to beds to chairs to kitchen cabinets. Provided the customer cannot find furniture that suits their needs, JHE's Log Furniture Place will custom build it.

"We provide the largest selection of quality furniture available online, hand-selected by knowledgeable craftsmen. As our product lines continue to grow, I want to ensure that the log furniture pieces on the website are of the highest quality for our customers," says Jason Hunt, President of JHE's Log Furniture Place.

One of their newest collections, the Cedar Lake collection combines the best quality cedar wood while offering the collection at competitive prices. JHE locally sources the cedar logs, choosing logs that are naturally aged to achieve as much character as possible. Furniture in this collection includes log beds, chests, rustic dressers and cabin-style nightstands as well as long dining tables, half log benches, log living room furniture and comfortable rustic log dining chairs. Although this furniture may look rustic, it is also quite luxurious.

Cedar is naturally resistant to decay and most insects and thus is one of the best woods to use for outdoor furniture. Cedar log furniture is ideal because of its long life, durability, and stability. It may be left completely unfinished, treated with protectants or even stained or painted. When left unfinished, the cedar will weather to a beautiful silvery gray color.

JHE's log furniture lines have also expanded to include an Aspen collection, employing some definitive styles in the way the beds, tables, dressers or other home furnishings are created. The aspen logs JHE harvests begin as dead-standing aspen trees, therefore utilizing this natural resource to help them create sophisticated rustic furniture, while benefiting the forest as well as the environment. These methods of creating the furniture with the aspen wood ensure that no two logs every look exactly the same, making the aspen furniture line completely unique.
