Two new exterior door designs from Sculptural Glass Doors expand the company's innovative line of stile and rail wood doors featuring contemporary ClearCast Glass doorlites. Designer glass by Bill McColl makes this award winning collection of entry doors unique in the residential door market. Custom doors are built to order for homeowners and design professionals alike and serve as major architectural design elements.

May 25, 2010 (FPRC) -- Sculptural Glass Doors Inc recently added two new designs to their award winning line of entry doors. 'Accord' is a bold art glass door that provides great curb appeal as an exterior front door. 'Viento' is a flowing organic design in ClearCast Glass that performs especially well as a double door entryway. The new glass designs add to a stunning collection of contemporary glass doors, offering homeowners an uncommon variety of styles not found in retail stores.

'The most striking thing that differentiates our line of exterior doors from anything else in the market is the strong sensual appeal of our unique formed glass designs' said Bill McColl, creative director of Sculptural Glass Doors. 'The ClearCast glass has a lot of visual pop and definitely makes a statement. That is often a desirable quality in a front door or main entry. You want to draw the eye and clearly mark the point of entry.'

The collection of stile and rail doors from Sculptural Glass Doors exploits the way ClearCast Glass interacts with light resulting in a range of dynamic aesthetic effects. ClearCast Glass has also been patented for its enhanced thermal performance. For more information about the aesthetic qualities and functional features of ClearCast Glass, see 'About ClearCast Glass' on the company website.

Sculptural Glass Doors provides personal attention to clients throughout the process from sale through production to delivery. Handcrafted doors are made-to-order only, built to each client's individual specifications. Choices within each design include a variety of glass tints, wood species, and finishes, along with custom sizing and an optional prehang package. Both single and double door packages are available. Prices start at $1,890 and all options are clearly priced on the website. Entry doors are shipped nationwide at low flat rates.
