

Wholesale Insurance's Ryan Pinney Featured On BankRate.com

The Director of Affinity Marketing for Wholesale Insurance, a term life insurance company, was interviewed by BankRate.com. The life insurance company also offers clients mortgage life insurance.

May 26, 2010 (FPRC) -- ROSEVILLE, CA -- Ryan Pinney of Wholesale Insurance was recently featured in article with BankRate.com. Pinney is the Director of Affinity Marketing for the term life insurance company. His experience as a Chartered Senior Financial Planner has given him extensive knowledge in estate planning, needs analysis, estate tax minimization and other advanced planning concepts.

"All of our staff understands why it is important to have life insurance, and the goal of our business is to help people find ways to insure themselves. Ryan's work of helping people understand the basics of financial planning will help them to understand their financial situation. This helps them to better secure their family's future with life insurance in case something were to happen," said Jon Pinney, Marketing Director of Wholesale Insurance.

Before entering the insurance industry, Pinney served in the United States Marine Corps. As Director of Affinity Marketing, he works to develop effective partnerships that will further develop the reach of Wholesale Insurance. He specializes in impaired risk marketing and he spends many hours on the phones with brokers assisting them with their tough cases. He approaches all of his work with a 'can do' attitude.

In addition to standard life insurance, Wholesale Insurance also offers mortgage life insurance or mortgage protection insurance. This type of policy works to protect the home and family if something were to happen. Mortgage life insurance death benefits can be used to pay off the mortgage on the home at the time of death for the insurance.

Another type of insurance offered by Wholesale Insurance is term life. Term life insurance is the best type of mortgage life insurance to get if the insured is looking only for mortgage protection. Term life is the most commonly purchased type of life insurance. Other types of protection can include return of premium insurance and universal life insurance. Wholesale Insurance considers the insured's entire financial situation when determining what type of policy is best.

The Wholesale Insurance website offers several different tools to help the site's visitors better understand life insurance policies available. The Life Insurance Dictionary helps define terms that are discussed within an insurance policy. This will help policyholders to more fully understand the policy that they are buying. Additionally there is a Life Insurance Calculator and Life Insurance Medical Dictionary. Answers to frequently asked questions are also available within the information section of the website.
